For The Limitless Leader

For your emcee, ready to read aloud. About 60 seconds. Prefer to take the pressure off your host? Use the video introduction instead.

What if your people brought everything they are to everything they do? And why does getting them there still feel like guesswork?

Our next speaker has asked nearly 10,000 people in 113 countries what they want from work, and what they are actually getting. The gap between those two answers is why great people leave good bosses. Laura Gassner Otting was a Presidential Appointee in the Clinton White House, helping to create AmeriCorps, and spent twenty years running a retained executive search firm, recruiting the leaders that organizations couldn't afford to lose. She is a Good Morning America contributor and the Wall Street Journal bestselling author of Limitless and Wonderhell, and her talk on why success doesn't feel the way it should has more than 3 million views on TED.com.

Fair warning: she is a total research nerd who has never met a study she didn't love, and a storyteller who will make every one of them stick. Please join me in welcoming Laura Gassner Otting.
